question. [redacted] the Soviets no longer insist that the status of a neutral power similar to that of Switzerland be imposed on a reunified Germany. The only demand raised is that all-Germany refrain from joining any military grouping for the period of 25 years, during which the country could strengthen its democratic institutions. The status of Germany is to be guaranteed by both the Western and Eastern Powers. Germany is moreover to be allowed to maintain a national army for the protection of its frontiers, and this army is not to be subject to any discrimination. Ulbricht has allegedly already been informed of the new Soviet proposal

The Soviets are preparing a new move in the German question. [redacted], the Soviets no longer insist that the status of a neutral power similar to that of Switzerland be imposed on a reunified Germany. The only demand raised is that all-Germany refrain from joining any military grouping for the period of 25 years, during which the country could strengthen its democratic institutions. The status of Germany is to be guaranteed by both the Western and Eastern Powers. Germany is moreover to be allowed to maintain a national army for the protection of its frontiers, and this army is not to be subject to any discrimination. Ulbricht has allegedly already been informed of the new Soviet proposal by Pushkin.
